Welcome

@Lewspics

"What is the secret ingredient to Fringe by the Sea's success?" is a question the team is asked repeatedly by journalists, industry insiders and friends. The answer is straightforward: our community.

The creativity, pride and passion shown by people throughout East Lothian to make connections with each other and their environment and bring it to life in the Lodge Grounds every August is a true inspiration to us all.

So much so that for the next three years, Fringe by the Sea will be driven by a simple sentiment, LOVE OF LIFE.

And how do we showcase this fabulous philosophy that explores our innate connection to the natural world and to one another? Through a hugely exciting programme that heralds the best of our local community alongside brilliant creatives from around the world.

Thanks to critical funding from Creative Scotland, this year's blooming flower is the debuting of composer Erland Cooper's take on Love of Life, inspired by nature recordings from the Bass Rock. The roots of the programme is very much our community's awesome Project Plant that's seen hundreds grow their personal wild flower meadow for display.

Our headline shows in the Big Top are proving HOT tickets once more.

There will be celebration aplenty when funk and disco pioneers Kool & The Gang take to the stage - there's no excuse not to get down on it.

We can expect another epic electronic set this year as Maribou State brings their majestic, melodic sound to North Berwick. The duo's most recent, critically acclaimed album Hallucinating Love is a cathartic celebration of hope, resilience and community. This is one Scottish-exclusive live performance not to miss.

Alex James's Britpop Classical sees the best of the era blasted out by the former Blur bassist, a 30-piece orchestra and guest singers including Phil Daniels of the PARKLIFE track fame. We feel one helluva a singalong coming on...

From closer to home, Belle & Sebastian will be performing the exceptional album If You're Feeling Sinister while folk band Capercaillie will be bringing a touch of Gaelic to the first Sunday night.

The whole party will be started with an epic DJ set from RUDIMENTAL and to close the festival, we have lined up a very special performance from Contemporary Pianist of the Year, Levi Schectmann. The classically-trained German has been selling out concert halls across the globe and setting the world wide web alight with his astonishing blend of classical and hip-hop genres.

The big names in the Big Top don't stop at the music acts. With Jane & Fi returning, Louis Theroux, Ian Hislop, Ben Fogle, comedians Russell Howard and Lou Sanders and David Ologusa all set to offer pearls of wisdom, fascinating insights and bellyfuls of laughs.

Following a much appreciated debut year, our music film festival Wavelength returns with incredible guests, plenty for cinema-goers of all ages and a huge screen experience in the Big Top: MASSAOKE Sing the Movies!

The arrival of Scotland's favourite whisky, sees The Famous Grouse Lodge host many of Scotland's favourite artists including the Bay City Rollers, Fred MacAulay and Maggie O'Farrell.

Central to the festival vibe is our free-to-access North Berwick Trust Hub. Here you can explore Love of Life including delving into Brian d'Souza's Plants Can Dance, Lighthouse Live stage and The Times Lounge hosting a wide array of masterclasses, children's activities and local bands. Be sure to meet and chat with some of the 20 charities and community organisations popping-up at our encounter space.

The much-loved Coulters Makers Market and streetfood village has plenty of new additions to explore. One must-have dining experience appearing this year is Cómhla by the Sea, where Love of Life is brought to life from field to fork.

As ever, our heartfelt thanks goes to phenomenal community organisations, committed volunteers, skilled artists, generous patrons, supportive partners from the business world and public sector and, most importantly, you, for continuing to keep the spirit of Fringe by the Sea alive and well.

Have an amazing, fulfilling time with us.

LOVE OF LIFE

Feel more, feel good and feel your way forwards with some of Scotland's most innovative creatives through LOVE OF LIFE. Original takes on 'biophilia' - our innate desire to connect to nature - are open for exploration at this year's festival. We invite you to delve in, and deepen your connection for our shared future.

Supported by The Scottish Government's Expanded Festivals Fund through Creative Scotland

Erland Cooper has composed a very special piece of music for LOVE OF LIFE, rooted in the joy of slowing down and taking time to notice what's around us. Orkney-born Erland is an Emmy-nominated composer, producer and multi-instrumentalist who as a solo artist, has released five critically acclaimed studio albums, including a trilogy of work inspired by his childhood home, as well as themes of nature, people, place and time. His work often combines field recordings with traditional orchestration and contemporary electronic elements.

Working with Erland is artist Naomi McIntosh who creates sculptural objects and immersive installations which examine relationships between body, space and landscape. With the brilliant team from Old School Fabrications, they have together created a multi-layered take on LOVE OF LIFE which you can discover in our festival hub.

Our LOVE OF LIFE Launch event on 31st July celebrates the beginning of the project with Erland's sonic exploration and stunning visuals from Cagoule TV (see event listings for more information).

James Glossop

The Flock - also on our opening day, a flock of handmade gannets will weave from the Harbourside, through the town and to our hub, led by a stunning giant bird puppet, arriving in the Big Top for the launch.

Come and join The Flock! This is a chance to make your own puppet to carry in the parade, under the expert guidance of puppeteers Vision Mechanics, who brought the incredible 10-metre STORM to us in 2021. We'd love your help in making this a truly eye-catching spectacle, highlighting the incredible nature all around us and the plight of seabirds. The Northern Gannets who make Bass Rock their home are, like many seabirds, facing significant threats.

We ask that each puppet maker commits to coming along to two workshops in North Berwick, to make and finish their puppet, and to being part of the parade on the afternoon of 31st July. Puppet workshops will take place from 25th July onwards (see online event listing for more information).

Scottish Seabird Centre Exhibition - we present in partnership with SSC, a specially curated exhibition on LOVE OF LIFE and its connection to the wildlife on our coastline. Featuring a closer look at the new work by Erland Cooper and an exhibition of images taken as part of the 'making of' his composition. Open from 10.00AM-5.00PM daily (31 July - 9 August). Last entry 5.00PM. Free to visit with a suggested £5 donation to the charity. www.seabird.org

Also in our hub, you'll find Plants Can Dance (and Mushrooms Sing) - artist Brian d'Souza's musical collaboration with nature. Living organisms, like plants and fungi, produce unique electronic signals and data that, when connected to synthesizers and other equipment, can be converted into sound and music: a process called bionification.

Plants Can Dance will be open to explore each day of Fringe by the Sea. You can also book into a workshop to experience more. Each session will start with an introduction to the process, dig into the science and have a play with a variety of easy-to-use tools that create music from nature. Then you get into a Deep Listening experience where you're encouraged to immerse yourselves in the realtime audio-visual plant soundscape, leaving your phones aside. A wondrous treat for all!

Brian runs the A State Of Flo label and substack blog, focusing on the biological basis for music, new ecosystems and the creation of novel acoustic ecologies which bridge the gap between the natural world and the electronic music one. His nature-based music has been featured on the BBC World Service, 6Music, V&A, UN Oceans Conference, Discovery Channel, Tate Modern, Glastonbury, National Trust and more. He has just compiled the first Plants Can Dance compilation album, featuring artists from around the world who also collaborate with nature in their music.

Wavelength: The Herring Queen with guests Eilidh Munro & Adrian Leung

A screening of the film followed by discussion with director Eilidh Munro and composer Adrian Leung. For as long as people in Eyemouth, a small Scottish fishing town, can remember, boys became men who catch fish and a young girl is crowned as a queen. Now, there's no fish left to catch but year after year, a new 14 year old Herring Queen still takes her crown. Through the observational lens of a fishing festival, we feel the impacts of a global climate crisis, how it affects livelihoods, community and mental health. Dir. Eilidh Munro, UK, 2025, 12mins Composer. Adrian Leung.
